THE REDBIRD

1982

When the early settlers first came to this territory, one of their main concerns was education. On August 26, 1882 a meeting was called in the Milwaukee depot for the purpose of establishing a school.

It was voted not to form an organized district at once, but to raise money by popular subscription. A committee was appointed to collect donations and it soon had raised a total of $132.

The money was turned over to S.B. Meacham for the purpose of repairing his building on Main Street and engaging a teacher. He hired his wife, May, and she opened Ellendale's and Dickey County's first school.

For $100 and a ton of coal Mrs. Meacham was to furnish the building and provide instructional service for three months. School opened September 25, 1882 with an enrollment of 20 but total registration finally hit 31, with an average attendance of 16. Books from all over the U.S. were used with scarcely two alike.

The following year, in 1883, a regular public school was started in a house in the southern part of town. During this second year, enrollment grew considerably and the small building became so overcrowded that the citizens realized a real school house was needed.

In 1884, a two-story frame school house was built in the block which has been the site of the public school since that time. The contract price was $3,930.75.

This part of the city was considered "out in the country" in those days and many local parents thought it was disgraceful to send their children so far from home. Board sidewalks extended only part way to the school and many shoes were ruined when townspeople attended school functions during muddy spring days.

By 1908, the old frame building was rapidly becoming outmoded and in 1910, $25,000 in bonds was voted for erection of a new building. In 1915 an additional $19,000 bond issue was approved and in 1916 the present high school building was completed.

From 1900 to 1915 high school students attended the State Normal and Industrial school. When the present building was completed high school courses were again offered here.

The main school building had no auditorium; high school basketball games were played at the NI armory. During the Depression days the school board began investigating the possibility of building an auditorium. The auditorium was completed in 1938 and the total cost of the building was $53,225.

The original reorganization plan was drawn up on June 2, 1953 and was turned down by the voters.

On October 29, 1954 a new proposal was passed 5 to 1 which brought Ellendale Special, Van Meter, Ellendale No. 15, and Kentner Districts into the public school system.

With the reorganization the enrollment increased and it became apparent that more space was needed. In 1957, the elementary building was completed at a cost of $280,000.

During 1958-59 several rural school districts were annexed to the Ellendale School District. They were Dickey Consolidated, Farming Valley, Ada, Elm, Albion, and Spring Valley. Buses were run in these rural areas to pick up the children.

In 1971, the Ellendale Public school signed an agreement to operate the school at the Maple River Hutterite Colony northeast of Ellendale. The number of student averages 20-25 in grades 1-8.

Ellendale school has always been competitive in sports. Boys basketball, football, and boys track were the first extra-curricular sports. Wrestling was added in 1962, girls track in 1968, golf in 1972 and girls basketball in 1974.

Thus far, including the class of 1982, over 2,000 students have graduated. The first class graduated in 1888. It consisted of four young women. The smallest class ever to graduate was in 1909 with 3, and the largest class in 1970 with 61 graduates. In 1961 the Ellendale Public School had an all time high enrollment of 710 students. Currently the enrollment is 460.

Keeping the Spirit Going

The EHS cheerleaders strive to keep spirit alive with posters, cheers, and pep fests. Although this isn't easily accomplished, it is well worth it when everyone yells and cheers the team on.

Highlights for the cheerleaders this year included homecoming week, state wrestling tournaments, districts, B-squad tournaments, and C-squad tournaments.

Two annual awards are presented each year on which the cheerleaders vote. The spirit award which is given to the class that shows the most spirit throughout the year, and the megaphone award is given to a Cardinal fan who shows the most spirit toward all athletic events. The cheerleaders were advised by Mary Ulmer.

Homecoming week and the Snoball Dance were organized by the council. In December, a Christmas Party was held for the entire high school. Games, races, and refreshments were held in the gym to finish the 1981 school year before Christmas vacation.

A special group from the council was selected to work with the cooks to help them plan meals. Student Council members sold concessions at the wrestling tournaments. They were advised by Mr. Longtin and Mr. Hansen.

CENTENNIAL SENIORS

The Class of 1982 made it through the years of homework, lectures, tests and extra-curricular activities. Throughout these years, knowledge, friends and unforgettable memories were gained.

This year was filled with taking ACT tests, exchanging senior pictures, signing memory books, ordering announcements, caps and gowns, deciding what to do after graduation and many meetings. Mr. Longtin was our advisor.

THE TEACHERS: They Do It All For Us!

The teaching staff gave a lot of themselves and deserve a big "thanks." They not only offered us an opportunity to learn but also their friendship. We students appreciate the extra concern shown to us.

Five new teachers added to the Ellendale faculty were Mr. Brelo, Mr. Massett, Mr. Smith, Mr. Tastad and Mrs. Sand.
